Representative Ernie Bramblett said there'd be another examination for Pebble Beach Postmaster, in spite of the recommendation by the Republican Central Committee of Democrat Bill Rissel, and their request that further examinations be called off. Official notification from the U.S. Civil Service Commission reached the Pine Cone Thursday morning of examinations for second class postmaster, among them one for Pebble Beach. Applications should be filed with the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, 25, D.C., said the notice, and must be received or postmarked not later than July 6.

This is a spit in the eye of the central committee by Bramblett who owes the committee less than nothing because of their haste in brushing him off before his kickback case came to trial. Convicted, Bramblett is carrying the case to the supreme court.

Steaming barbecued steaks and dancing are the order of the day at San Antonio Mission near Jolon Sunday, and this year, another attraction has been added to the Mission fiesta.

The Fort Ord Army Band will invade Hunter Liggett Military Reservation, where the mission is located, to play during the noon hour. Color photographers go crazy over the opportunities of snapping the Spanish dancers in action at this annual affair for the benefit of the mission restoration fund, but the biggest stampede Jolonward is caused by the people who just like to eat. Cost for everything, $1.50 per person.

The Commonwealth Club of San Francisco is working for an initiative measure on the November ballot giving cities veto power over liquor license applications. This looks wonderful, and would be, if all city councils were as honest as Carmel's. But the opening for graft gives one to pause.

The present system of city protesting and state board of equalization holding a public hearing has worked very well for Carmel. In fourteen years no new bar has received a license except La Playa. In this case the city council and the city officials made it plain at the hearing that they didn't object. In every case in which the council has protested and meant it, George Reilly has gone along with Carmel. Within the last month the State Board denied Adolph Lafrenz's application after their own referees, who presided over the public hearing, recommended it.

The Mayor of Carmel and the Mayor of Santa Barbara got together in a corner at a League of California Cities' mayor and city councilmen's convention in Santa Barbara Friday and Saturday, and viewed with alarm, justifiably, an army of oil derricks on the horizon, organizing for a march on the California beaches. There is not much chance that state legislature will pass a blanket prohibition to protect all California beach cities from the oily threat. Too many coast cities want oil pumps off

Employees' Pension And Bees In City Hall Are Discussed By Council

Preliminary discussion of a retirement plan for city employees and description of a repair and painting program to improve and beautify the city hall were the many matters of business before the Carmel City Council Wednesday evening in its regular meeting. Because of the lengthy agenda an adjourned meeting was scheduled for next Tuesday night to complete discussion or action on a number of matters held over for that purpose.

Carl Patnude and Francis Whitaker were appointed as a committee to study the State Retirement Plan and also to go over a plan offered by a private company, represented by William B. Brown. Reports of the two plans will be presented at next Tuesday's session.

Councilwoman Geraldine Smith outlined plans for the eventual refurbishing of the city hall and was granted permission for the first step on the program, to purchase glass tops for the new desks. The program will include: a new front porch, adequate drainage, roof repair, over-all painting, improvement of the acoustics in the council chambers, landscaping of the grounds, possible removal of the tower, a new door to the traffic department and last, but not least, the removal of the bees who have been living inside the walls of Clerk Peter Mawdsley's office. In this latter matter, Chief Clyde Klaumann said he knew of a man in East Monterey who could be called to take away the honey bees.

Permission was granted, with a restriction, to Colin Kuster to place a directional sign for the Golden Bough Theater at the corner of Monte Verde and Ocean, with Councilwoman Smith being the only objector. She felt that granting such permission might "open the door" to other such signs. The restriction, suggested by Francis Whitaker who did not vote, was that it be taken down when the proposed ordinance to eliminate all such signs goes into effect.

There was considerable discussion on traffic congestion on Fifth between Dolores and San Carlos following the reading of a letter sent in by F. B. Seville. Because of the signs on the north side of the street which read "no parking", many motorists feel that just stopping there does not mean parking, Chief Klaumann pointed out. It was decided to change the signs to "No Stopping or Parking at Any Time."

Among matters held over for Tuesday's meeting will be discussion of repairs for the Forest Theater, bus stop changes, housing of the Red Cross ambulance, codification of city ordinances, landscaping lower Ocean Avenue and consideration of a one-way traffic plan for Scenic Avenue.

"Nothing Short Of Perfection" Promise Production Staff For Forest Theatre "As You Like It"

The men and women of the production staff of the Shakespeare Festival are working like beavers, cutting and sewing costumes under the sure direction of Hazel McLellan, and making and bringing in material for the settings which Director Herbert Heron has designed for Duke Frederick's court and the lovely Forest of Arden, where most of the action takes place. Properties are being gathered or made; the lighting plot is being worked out; posters, programs, circulars and tickets are in process of fabrication; and simultaneously the rehearsals of As You Like It are in full swing on the great open stage of the Forest Theater, where Charles Thomas is proving himself not only a fine technical director, but also a man of high ideals and vital energy. He is ably assisted by Katherine Kollmer, who blocked out much of the action, and Eleanor Mott, who holds the book at rehearsals and never wavers in her attention to details. Jack James, assistant stage manager, is right on hand with prompt and intelligent help whenever needed. Roland Scheffler is chief electrician. Dale Lefler will direct the dance finale. He was formerly with Ted Shawn at Jacob's Pillow and has worked extensively in motion pictures and television. Lending their aid in the costume department are Jean Stone, Laura Hoffman, Edythe Plamondon, and Doris Dorwart. Mausita Jennings will direct the overture and musical interludes. It is really boom-time in the Forest Theater.

Bigger Recreation Program Ready To Go On June 21

Carmel Summer Recreation Program gets under way June 21 and will be going full blast until August 20, expanded as to activities and facilities. There is something for everybody from sports and games for the little kids, to softball, folk dancing and two art classes for adults, portraiture and landscape painting.

Facilities of all the schools, including River School for the first time, have been assigned to the serious business of summer play. Activities extend beyond the confines of the schools' playgrounds, gym and pool, to a day camp in Carmel Valley and a Beachcombers' Club which will roam the shores of Carmel Bay.

Staff for the summer program headed by George Mosolf, includes Bobby Updike, Jack Giles, Diana Donlon, Audrey Campbell, Barbara Wies, Hilda Morlang, Donna Douglas, Kay Rodgers, Harold Landaker, Sterling Hall and Mrs. Gordon Reid.

For the younger fry, there'll be playground games at Woods, Sunset and River schools Monday through Friday afternoons; in addition, baseball and other games will be offered for older kids each afternoon at the high school. Mrs. Reid will conduct day camp in the valley for various age groups every weekday except Monday; pre-registration for day camp should be made by calling Mrs.

Election Summary

Though returns are slow in coming in from outlying districts, it was clear late yesterday that there will be a run-off between Stanley Lawson and James Jeffery for Monterey County Superior Judge in the November general election. Lawson was leading Jeffery by over 2000 votes, thanks to Monterey Peninsula support. Gill was trailing far out of the running.

In the Congressional contest (13th district) O'Reilly has taken the Democratic nomination, beating out Carty by about 10,000 votes. He'll face Teague in the November election.

Pattee and Farr, in the Assembly (34th district) race, made negligible showings in cross filing, and drew about equal number of votes on their own party ballot, both polling around 10,000, promising a close run in the November general.

Statewide, as well as in the county, the voters followed party lines. Attorney General Pat Brown is the only candidate who won on both tickets and will not have to face election this fall.

The fall line up: For Governor, Knight and Graves, Knight polling over 200,000 more votes in the Republican ballot than Graves on the Democratic. Lt. Governor: Roybal, Democratic; Powers, Republican. Monterey County's Silliman trailed 60,000 plus to Powers' 600,000 plus. United States Senator, Yorty, Democrat, 600,000 plus will oppose Kuchel, Republi-

PINE CONE NINE AT SANTA CRUZ TONIGHT

Manager Joe Nicholson hits the road with his Pine Cone softball squad tonight, for a joust with the Santa Cruz All-Stars at the Surf City diamond. This will be the first road trip for the Coners this season and they will be out to continue their winning ways at the expense of the All-Stars. The Pine Cone will shoot with their pitching ace, Jim Morton, who is enjoying his best ever season on the pitching mound. In his last outing, Jim tossed a one-hitter at the Fort Ord team and has been flirting with no-hitters in several tilts so far this year.

Carmel fans will have a chance to see the Pine Cone nine in action at Sunset Field later in the season when a full schedule of exhibition games will be slated for the local ball orchard.

Mary Austin Is Honored In Land Of Little Rain

They're putting a plaque up for Mary Austin in Owens Valley. Winsor Josselyn, who is doing a job for the Navy over on the other side of the Sierra, sent a clipping from the local paper about the plaque to brother Lewis in Carmel. Lewis wasn't sure if it was worth a notice in the Pine Cone or not.

"Who remembers Mary Austin, now?" he asked.

Mary Austin's connection with Carmel goes back into the dark ages before the Pine Cone, before 1915. She came here from Owens Valley fresh from her triumph of Land of Little Rain, and information about her stay here must be sought in the memories of a few old timers.

First news item about her appears in the first year of the Pine Cone's existence, August 11, 1915. She had moved away, but had returned on a visit and was apparently miffed at the Carmelites for allowing her Wickiup to be blown down in a winter storm. The Pine Cone was diplomatic in its report.

"The Wickiup Is No More

"Mrs. Mary Austin, who returned from the East last week, is lamenting the fact that last winter King Storm destroyed the famous Wickiup which was located near her home, across the canyon.

"The wickiup was erected in 1905, the year before the great San Francisco earthquake, and since that time has achieved world-wide renown. It has been Mrs. Austin's privilege to enter-

PINE CONE WINS ANOTHER IN P.G. SOFTBALL PLAY

Riding to victory on the strong right arm of hurler Jim Morton, the Carmel Pine Cone softball team kept pace with the leaders in the P.G. league by blasting the Fort Ord Reception Center, 4 to 2, last Monday night at Pacific Grove. Morton's blazing fast ball kept the soldiers at his mercy as he came within a whisker of pitching a no-hitter. Only blow off the lathy Carmel right-hander was a near-miss double in the sixth inning which allowed the Reception Center to score their two runs.

Gene Vandervort, rifle-arm shortstop, led the Pine Cone hitters, stroking a solid two-for-three and driving in three runs. The Coners put together a big third inning to post three runs on the board as Hansen, Harber, Morton, and Updike put singles together for the winning rally.

Tonight the Pine Cone goes to Santa Cruz to take on the All-Stars.

Next P.G. action for the Coners is set for Monday, June 14th, when the printers square off against the Salinas Sportsmen in an 8:30 game.

CARMEL JUNIOR LEGION DOWNS HOLLISTER, 4 TO 2

Carmel American Legion Post 512 saw its Junior Legion baseball team come through with win number two for the current season as the Carmel lads turned back the stubborn Hollister nine, 4 to 2, in a fast, well-played game. Played at the windy Hollister diamond last Saturday afternoon, the game was a pitching duel between Hollister High's varsity pitcher, Lopez, and Carmel High's Mike Mosolf. Hurling statistics were about even with Lopez striking out seven, walking five, and allowing two hits. Mosolf set down eleven via the strikeout route, issued seven free passes and gave up three hits. It was the speedy base-running of the Carmel crew which turned the tide of battle in the hurlers' duel. Carmel's eager-running Legion lads stole six bases and took advantage of every opportunity to move into scoring position. While the Carmel baserunners were taking liberties with the Hollister defense, Craig Chapman, Carmel catcher, threw out all would-be Hollister steal attempts to interrupt several Hollister rallys.

An American Junior Legion baseball natural is on tap at the Carmel High School diamond tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock when the undefeated Monterey Post clashes with the likewise undefeated Carmel Post 512. Both teams have played two games in league play this season, Monterey defeating Hollister, 18 to 1, and whipping Santa Cruz, 8 to 3, while Carmel hung an 8-4 decision on Santa Cruz and edged Hollister, 4 to 2. Both teams are manned by Peninsula prep diamond performers, Monterey having skimmed the cream of the Pacific Grove, Monterey and Serra squads to build up a formirable squad. The Carmel team is composed entirely of Carmel High players who have not reached their seventeenth birthdays.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Wise Stepmother

Have you heard about young Skeeter Roberts' unusual pet, the tame owl "Blinky"? He's had her about three years.

I say "her" because up to a couple of weeks ago nobody was quite sure. But now "Blinky's" a mother—of two chicks!

Seems "Blinky" had been acting kind of strange—so on a hunch, Skeeter put a couple of hen's eggs in her nest. Darn if "Blinky" didn't set on them for 5 days! Last Friday they hatched, and now "Blinky's" as proud as a mother hen! (So's Skeeter.)

From where I sit, there's a lesson for all of us. Guess you'd call it "tolerance." Birds and animals often seem to do better in that respect than humans. If I like a glass of temperate beer with supper and you'd rather have cider—it should be okay with both of us. Neither of us should give a "hoot" what the other fellow likes, says, or does, as long as he follows the law of the land. Right?

Sue Ehman, John Clise Wed

The season's first big June wedding took place Saturday afternoon at St. John's Chapel, Del Monte, where Susan Ehman of Pebble Beach became the bride of John McKenzie Clise of Seattle.

Local and out-of-town friends and family of the bridal pair filled the small chapel, which was decorated with masses of white flowers. The nuptial service was read by the Rev. Bernard Lovgren.

At 3:00 o'clock, the bride was escorted down the aisle by her father, John Bartelme Ehman. The bridal gown was fashioned of imported white eyelet; its sculptured bodice, portrait neckline and tiny fitted waist accentuated the very bouffant, full-length skirt with its six tiers of crisp eyelet. In lieu of the conventional veil, Sue wore a mantilla of white Chantilly lace. Her flowers were white stephanotis and gardenias in a graceful cascading bouquet.

Maid-of-honor was the groom's sister, Miss Sally Clise, who completed her Spring semester at Smith College just in time to fly out for the wedding. The bride's cousin, Miss Lenore Lamb of Orinda, and Miss Sydney Hudson of Pebble Beach were the bridesmaids.

The groom was attended by a former classmate at Thatcher School, Stanley Atkinson, who is now stationed with the Army at Fort Ord. Ushers were Susan's younger brother, Bart Ehman, and a cousin, Thomas Roemer of Oakland. John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Clise of Seattle, who were present at the wedding; the Clises also entertained members of the wedding party at a supper following the wedding rehearsal Friday evening.

The wedding reception was held at the Ehmans' new home in Pebble Beach.

Yosemite was the initial honeymoon destination of the young couple; they planned to continue their wedding trip by driving north to the Ehman ranch in Mendocino, then to visit the groom's parents in Seattle, where a large reception and several smaller parties are scheduled. They'll finish their trip in Victoria, British Columbia; on June 29, John, who just graduated from the department of Chinese at the Army Language School, is to report to Camp Stoneman. His future assignment will take him to Tokyo, where his bride hopes to be able to join him.

Home for the Summer

The summer exodus from colleges and universities has begun, and with it a corresponding increase in the number of young localites arriving home for the vacation.

Among the recent arrivals from the east is Nancy Veit, daughter of the Howard Veits, who has been attending the Margaret Webster Secretarial School in Washington, D.C. Also Debbie Kneedler, who's been at Mosher Secretarial School in Chicago; she's the eldest of the Harold Kneedlers' quintet.

Due to arrive next week is Gray Burnham, daughter of Mrs. A. Carol McKenney, who is flying home from the east on Wednesday. She's been attending Bennett Junior College in New York. Dr. and Mrs. McKenney will meet her at the plane in San Francisco Thursday; her return home will doubtless contribute to a spate of parties and entertaining in the younger set.

Slide Show for Craftsmen

A special program planned for craftsmen will be the feature of the June meeting of the Carmel Crafts Guild, to be held at 8:00 o'clock this evening in the Carmel Art Gallery.

The program will consist of the showing of a series of slides produced by the American Craftsman Educational Council, Inc., illustrating three phases of crafts work: principles of design, application of these principles in relation to the craftsman, and an exhibition of work from the American Craftsman School in Rochester, New York. The work used as illustration in the slides is to be included in a show at the San Francisco Museum of Art at the end of this month.

Dale Lefler Joins Dean Dance Studio

Former Hollywood dance director Dale Lefler has joined the teaching staff of Dorothy Dean's School of the Dance, which opens its summer sessions next week at its new location in the Molera adobe in Monterey.

Mr. Lefler, who studied at Jacob's Pillow with Agnes de Mille and Ted Shawn, has been in motion picture work since 1942. For several years he was under contract as dance director with MGM, where he worked as assistant to Jack Donohue on several pictures, and has done free-lance work with other major studios. He was associated with Michael Kidd in the movie Knock on Wood, in which he "danced in" for Danny Kaye, and later on Warner's Lucky Me. He also danced in the stage production, Magdalena.

In his new permonent position at the Dorothy Dean School, Mr. Lefler will specialize in free-style and tap classes for both adults and children. Miss Dean and her assistant, Lynda Lorimer, will offer complete courses in ballet, both Italian and Russian methods, and in such specialties as toe, variations, adagio and character dancing.

can, 800,000 plus. Two Johnsons will battle it out for state treasurer, George Johnson, Democrat, Charles Johnson, Republican, each polling 700,000 plus on his own party ballot, Collins, Democrat, Kirkwood, Republican will face each other for Controller, polling equally on their party ballot with Kirkwood's edge in collecting 300,000 plus against Collins' 80,000 plus in the cross-filing.

Though the vote was light throughout the state, Carmel turned out 55 percent of the registered voters, a very good showing. In the county judge contest, Carmel supported Lawson with better than 1000 votes, Gill and Jefferies getting less than 200 each. The Republicans loyally gave Silliman close to 700 votes, and even 130 Democratis crossed the party line to vote for him, though Roybal claimed over 300 votes on his party ballot locally.

Wilbur Gibson

Wilbur S. Gibson, 68, died Tuesday at his home on Sixth and Santa Fe streets.

He was born September 23, 1885, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and moved with his wife to Carmel five years ago following his retirement from business.

In addition to his wife, Lois Cochran Gibson, he leaves a son, William C. Gibson of Honolulu; a brother, Robert Gibson, of Warren, Ohio; and three grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon.

Mary Atkinson

Mary Atkinson died June 2 at the home of her niece, Mrs. Delbert Wermuth, with whom she had been living for the past three years. She was 89, and had been in failing health for the past several months.

Miss Atkinson was born in 1865 at the New Almaden Mine. While still a baby, she moved with her parents to a homestead at Uvas Canyon, Santa Clara County; she lived virtually her entire life on the family homestead until coming to Carmel in 1951 to stay with her niece.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. P. A. Daly of Uvas Canyon, and three nieces: Mrs. Viola Boggs of Oakland, Mrs. E. A. Fahner of San Jose, and Mrs. Wermuth. She also leaves several grand-nieces and grand-nephews.

Funeral services were held Saturday in Morgan Hill, with burial at the Santa Clara Catholic Cemetery.

E. Woodburn

Mrs. Eugenia Mouser Woodburn died May 30 at her home in Robles del Rio. Death was attributed to a heart condition.

Mrs. Woodburn had been a Valley resident for many years, and was a charter member of the Carmel Valley Woman's Club.

She leaves her husband, E. J. Woodburn of Robles del Rio, and two sons, Elwood Woodburn, Jr., of Alder Point and James Woodburn of Sacramento.

Private funeral services were held last Wednesday; burial was in Sacramento.

A new and sturdy twig has sprouted on the Snyder family tree in the person of one Douglas Richard, aged one week today, the first son for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Snyder of Carmel. D. R. had his first look at the wide and woolly world at precisely 3:58 o'clock last Friday afternoon at Peninsula Hospital, and was found to displace seven pounds, seven ounces.

Douglas' arrival at home on Tuesday occasioned considerable interest on the part of his two older sisters, three year old Judith Gail and small Deborah Jean, who just recently completed her first year. Long-distance interest was also expressed by the baby's Massachusetts grandparents, Thomas K. Snyder of Cambridge and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lindley of Wellesley Hills, the latter of whom visited here earlier this spring.

Other achievement awards went to Kim Slattery, Terry Bishop, Christopher Shepherd, Ricky Clayton, John Eagleton, Jeff McKenna and Jimmy Carter. Four other Cubs, Richard Montgomery, Walter Pilot, Doyle Clayton and John Whittaker, had qualified for awards but were unable to be present to receive them.

Kiwanis Hears About USO

Frank Adams, director of the Monterey USO, gave a talk on the activities and operation of the club at last week's meeting of the Carmel Kiwanis Club at La Playa.

A brief description of the Special Services Office at Fort Ord was given by Col. J. C. Reeder. The Kiwanians were also treated to a 20-minute entertainment by soft-shoe dancer Don Spruance, baritone Charlie Hilder and pianist Denny Harbaugh.

And So To London . . .

PART IV

By ASTRID SISSON

The center of Piccadilly Circus has a fountain topped by a statue of Eros. Here the London flower "girls" sell their wares. These old women were as smiling and good natured as were the fishwives of Copenhagen, and looked as ageless. There was something comfortable about them, about their smiles and their friendliness, even about their amused, almost rowdy, winks at the passing crowd. But seeing daily the royal trappings, I wondered if that spark of inquisitiveness, which is in most of us, ever made them pause to ask in resentment why circumstances make one a queen and one a starch-fed and illy-clad street peddler. I asked one of the women about the coronation, and remembering it her eyes flashed and her face became beautiful. It is well for humanity to have someone fine and untarnished to love. These women had it.

We went from Piccadilly Circus along the left side of Piccadilly Street to St. James's Street, and turned left to St. James's Palace, which is fronting on Pall Mall with the beautiful St. James's Park to the south. Although St. James's has not been the royal residence since Queen Victoria's accession, the British Court is still called, The Court of St. James. The palace is now used for parties and receptions.

From St. James's we passed the British Museum into the Mall, and Buckingham Palace was straight ahead, with the impressive Victoria Memorial directly in front.

Buckingham Palace should be reached about 10:30 o'clock in the morning, in time to watch the changing of the guard, which is the most spectacular sight to be seen in London.

It will be well to ask the desk clerk before going there on what day this ceremony takes place. My information is that the changing of the guard takes place at Buckingham Palace only when the Queen is in residence, otherwise at St. James's, and always on alternate days. Seeing the well-drilled guard go through the drills, their feet hitting the ground with a sound like clicking castanets, their uniforms gorgeous and immaculate, is a sight that should not be missed. When we saw it, the ceremony took almost an hour.

From Buckingham Palace we walked to Trafalgar Square. Here is the famous memorial to Lord Nelson, England's greatest sailor. At the base are four lions in bronze by Landseer, and the center of the base holds a lofty shaft topped by a 16-foot statue of Lord Nelson. The Square has beautiful fountains and color-rich flower beds and benches from which may be watched the passing crowd.

Facing on the square is the National Gallery with England's finest collection of British and continental paintings and across from it is the beautiful church, St. Martin-in-the-Field.

Other galleries that should be visited are Tate's gallery at Millbank, the Wallace collections in Mertford House on Manchester Square, and the Redfern Gallery, which certainly added much to my love of galleries and museums.

The first impression on entering it was that great care had been used in grouping and hanging the collections. The most individual, and certainly the most appealing picture to me, exhibited there last Fall, was Michael Ayrton's Blind Girl with a Sculpture. One could so well sense, almost feel, the gift of discovering beauty through touch in the groping fingers of the blind girl's hands, and know it for a gift as precious to the blind as sight is to us. Light falling on the blind girl's upturned face revealed more than her concentrated efforts to feel the beauty of the sculpture. It was as if she were listening for something, too. It created the impression that the artist had experienced a deep feeling of pity for his model and his genius had made it possible to record his own feeling as well as the exquisite expression on the girl's face.

There are dozens of other galleries, of course, many with valuable exhibits which should be seen if time is available.

Now, let us go back to Trafalgar Square, and walk across the Strand to Whitehall Street, famous for its public buildings, including Whitehall, one of London's oldest, which until the thirteenth century was a private residence but then became the residence of the Archbishop of York and was named York House. After the disgrace and death of Bishop Wolsey, it reverted to the crown and was given its present name. Some of the very oldest parts were lost by fire in 1691 and again in 1696. The hall proper has ceiling paintings by Rubens. It was there Henry VIII, Cromwell and Charles II died, and Charles I walked the weary road from St. James's Palace to Whitehall to be executed there.

Continuing down Whitehall Street, on the right one finds the Admiralty buildings. Across the street stands the War Office, and the House Guards is also there, being built in 1758. The ceremony of changing the guard may be seen here every morning at 11:00 o'clock, and is a spectacular sight. too. The soldiers are the most beautifully uniformed in London, and the horses are as handsome as the soldiers.

Continuing the walk, to the right one sees the unspectacular, narrow, short alley-like Downing Street, possibly one of the most important streets in the world, for here lives Britain's Prime Minister at No. 10 Downing Street; the residence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer is No. 11, and in No. 12 resides the Government Whip, roughly, the Speaker of the House. After having seen the many palaces and castles in and around London, it comes as a shock to see these modest residences of Britain's great men. From the street the houses rise three narrow stories high, with two windows and a narrow door on the first floor, three narrow windows across the other two floors, the windows placed precisely, one above the other. A guard stands acrosss the street by the columned entrance to the court of the Foreign Office, but facing No. 10 Downing Street.

Since there is nothing more to be seen there, we return to Whitehall Street and cross it and walk down a side street to have a look at Scotland Yard. Returning, we walk to the middle of the street to the Cenotaph, a shrine and memorial to the Britons who perished in the first world war. The great, square white marble monument has become the symbol of national mourning. It is inscribed with: "THE GLORIOUS DEAD."

Soon the street becomes Parliament Street, and ahead lies the Houses of Parliament and Westminster Abbey.

Houses of Parliament lies on the bank of the Thames and make a superb picture when seen from Westminster Bridge or the river. Parliament occupies eight acres along the bank, and, I was told, has 1100 apartments, 100 stairways, and 11 courts. It includes the richly decorated House of Peers as well as the House of Commons.

Looking at this building from the bridge, one sees the large square Victoria Tower on the left. From it a flag is flown when Parliament "is sitting". The clock tower is on the opposite end of the long building to the right and contains the famous Big Ben with its four dials facing in different directions. The hours are struck on Big Ben, whose heartening notes never once stopped during the war, even though there was a time when the chimes, from necessity, were played from records, but this the Londoners learned only after the war. The House of Commons was destroyed on May 10, 1941, and the rebuilt house opened in 1950. Behind the Houses of Parliament is Parliament Square, forming a connecting link with Westminster Abbey.

THE DESERT

The desert sandstorm blew no more,
And quiet lay the desert floor.
The dusty parchment of the sky
Hanging above, seemed not so high
As when the wind with hasty hands
Blurred the blue with powdered sands.

There is a new desert after the storm
When the howling ghost has left her form
Curved with dunes of new design,
And strewn with upturned shapes of lime,
Bones of beasts and bones of men
Who never will see the desert again.

They ride again in the desert gale,
Age-old ghosts on an age-old trail,
Indians, white men, Spaniards with knives,
Haunting the sandbeast that took their lives.
The wind is a great conglomerate ghost
Of all the shouting, pioneer host.
It rides to avenge, but it rides in vain;
Forever the desert beast has lain
In wait for the man with the roving eye—
Forever has lain, and forever will lie.

—ALICE JOSEPHINE WYATT.

THE ORCHID

Tuberous-rooted, prismatic glass tints
Many-colored as marquetry and murals
Depicting old saints,
And hidden creeds polished in pure fire.

Herbaceous orchids
Swirled in glass in virgin wildwood
Flashing into frondic figurettes,
Tercet-pointed suntips, exotic in a luster
Curious of star.

Faith is like an orchid
Delicate, delightful of intrinsic scents
Clinging in the heart-tree
Letting fall its many-colored gleams:
Hold it closely! lest it splinter into crystal sheaves.

—VERA LA CLAUSTRA.

OF UITIMATE WHITE

Hot saffron, splashed on iris by the sun,
Red of a rose,
Campanula's lit blue: each pigment glows
To swell day's splendor. When his light is done,
Their luster goes.

Moon paints no color-dramas to allure
Her lord, the night.
Tranquil, she steeps his dignity in light
That cools all shades to one, a haze of pure,
Compliant white.

—HELEN SEARIGHT FAULKNER.

The BLOODMOBILE

is coming to Carmel next Thurs., June 17

Anyone between the ages of 18 and 59—at least 110 lbs. in weight and in normally good health—can give blood.

Giving blood is safe, simple and painless. Donors are medically screened by a physician and every precaution is taken for their protection.

The four hours before donating—please refrain from cream, fats or eggs.

However, the Red Cross points out that it is imperative for prospective donors to make appointments before going to the collection center. Too few donors make for inefficient operation, and "walk-ins" who have not been scheduled overstrain collection capacity.

BUFFET BRUNCH FOR ALL DONORS

THE PLACE — The American Legion Hall in Carmel on Dolores Street below 8th.

THE TIME — 10:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M.

Please Telephone the Red Cross Headquarters —7-6921— for your appointment.

Fehring Family Unites

Part-time hosts to a big family gathering are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fehring and their five youngsters, who last weekend opened their doors to a long-anticipated visit from Ted's mother, out from her home in Terre Haute, Indiana. Also on hand were Ted's brother, Raymond, and his wife, who picked up the senior Mrs. Fehring after driving from their home in Holland, Michigan. To round things off, the third Fehring brother, Dutch, his wife and their three children came down from Menlo Park last Sunday: the first time in over 15 years Mrs. Fehring has had all her sons together. Her husband will join the reunion around the middle of next month, when he'll arrive by train from Terre Haute.

The Fehrings' visit will be a sort of round-robin affair. This weekend the whole family will troop up to Menlo Park at the behest of Dutch and his wife, and the inter-family shuttle will continue on through the summer until the senior Fehrings head home to Indiana. The Raymond Fehrings, meantime, are hoping to transfer their residence from east to west, particularly since two of their four children will be attending college here: the eldest boy has just been accepted for Stanford, and the eldest girl is at Mills. If things work out as they hope, they may find a home in the San Francisco Bay Area by fall.

Paula Solos for Scripps

Paula Schneeberger, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Philip Schneeberger, was the vocal soloist yesterday with the Scripps College Choral Club in its commencement-day concert at the college. Paula sang four solos, two Brahms numbers and two Schubert songs, and also participated in the 30-voice chorus presentation of selections by Mozart, Purcell, Palestrina and Vaughn Williams.

Another Carmel girl, Jane Bond, also participated in the program as a member of the chorus. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall G. Bond of Westhaven.

Audubon Weekend Camp-out

Audubon Society will have a two-day camp-out this weekend at Livingstons' cabin at Arroyo Seco. Participants are to bring food for meals and sleeping bags; camera bugs are also invited to bring slides for the evening entertainment.

The group will meet tomorrow morning at 9:00 o'clock at Fred's Camp in Arroyo Seco. Anyone planning to make the trip Sunday only will meet Sunday morning at the same time and place.

Great Event for Legare McNeill

Man of the hour is Legare McNeill, who next weekend will crown his college career with a paradox: on Friday, he'll be formally named a bachelor, and the following day, with attendant ceremony, he becomes a benedict.

Final examinations at U.C. have claimed Legare's attention for the time being, but his efforts will be rewarded next Friday, when he receives his bachelor's degree in business administration; at the same time, he'll be granted his commission as ensign in the Naval Reserve.

But the really big day will be Saturday, when he takes as his bride Miss Leslie Clark of San Francisco. They will be married at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Mary of the Virgin Episcopal Church in San Francisco, with the reception to follow at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Baylies V. Clark.

The future bride also attended U.C., where she was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta. Prior to that, she was graduated from Miss Burke's School in the city, and made her social debut at the cotillion in 1950. For her maid of honor at the wedding, Leslie has named Joan Daniels of Monterey. Bridesmaids will be her two sisters, Susan and Sally Clark, Mrs. Johannes Meulenkamp and Mrs. James P. McNeill, Jr. A longtime friend of the Clark family, Captain Donald Fraser (USN) of San Diego, will give the bride away.

Legare, the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. James P. McNeill of Carmel, graduated in 1950 from Carmel High and attended Monterey Peninsula College before enrolling at Cal. Colonel McNeill will be his son's best man at the wedding next weekend. For his groomsmen, Legare has named three former Carmel High classmates, John O'Shea, Dick Weer and Lee Laugenour, and his brother, James McNeill. (James, incidentally, has just completed his pre-med work at U.C., and expects to enter the U.C. medical school in September. He and his wife, Vicki, make their home in Berkeley.)

Legare's grandmother, Mrs. A. E. Legare of Columbia, South Carolina, will fly out from the south in order to be present at the wedding. She will drive up to the city with Colonel and Mrs. McNeill, then will return with them to Carmel for a summer visit. Several other South Carolina friends of the McNeill family also plan to be present at the ceremonies.

Following their honeymoon, the newlyweds plan to make their home temporarily in Carmel while Legare waits for an expected call for duty with the Navy.

Major Lester to Germany

Major Albert Lester, Jr., left here last Wednesday for a flight to Germany, where he will report for his new assignment with the Air Force. Mrs. Lester has remained here with the major's parents, the Al Lesters, but hopes to be able to join her husband in Germany in the near future.

Freys Have Double Birthday

Harassed but on schedule, the stork zeroed in on Peninsula Hospital last Wednesday to deliver a six pound, 15 ounce son to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frey. The third man in the Frey family has been named Charles Walter—the man between being Bobby, aged two, who accepted his new brother with unforeseen equanamity.

Charles' arrival coincided exactly with Mrs. Frey's 21st birthday, and thereby established as conclusively as possible her official coming of age. The dual birthday was happily celebrated last week by a large contingent of Frey friends and family, including grandparents Mr. and Mrs. John Frey of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Johnson of Dey Rey Oaks. In years to come, the occasion will doubtless inspire the senior Freys, proprietors of the Dolores Bakery, to the creation of something very special in the way of a birthday cake.

A Sister for Tregae

Their second daughter was welcomed May 29 by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. LaVaun of Carmel. The newcomer's name is Kathleen, and she weighed in at seven pounds, three ounces at Peninsula Hospital. She's learning the ropes around home from her older sister, Tregae, who has the benefit of 19 months' experience in the ways of the world. Kathleen's grandparents are Mrs. Thelma Galvin of Pebble Beach and Jack Galvin of Santa Barbara.

Hans Lehmann Graduates

Hans Arthur Lehmann, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lehmann, was awarded his Bachelor of Science degree in business at the University of Colorado's commencement exercises at Boulder last Saturday. Hans' brother, Klaus, got his masters' degree in television last year at USC, and is now doing a tour of duty with the Army. Hans' future plans are still uncertain.

Lloyd Tevis Weds Nona Lake

In a simple candlelight ceremony Saturday afternoon at St. John's Chapel, Lloyd Pacheco Tevis of Carmel took as his bride the former Nona Bulkley Lake, daughter of Harry B. Lake and the late Mrs. Lake of New York City. The Rev. Bernard Lovgren read the 4:30 o'clock service before a small group of family members and intimate friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Thomas Cooper of Waterford, and was attended by Mrs. Douglas C. Gladstone of Berkeley. Richard L. Tevis of San Mateo served as best man for his brother, while Donnan Jeffers and Joseph Schoeninger, Jr., of Carmel were ushers.

The new Mrs. Tevis was schooled in New York and later graduated from Stanford University. The benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd P. Tevis, Sr., of Carmel, and a great-grandson of early California governor Pacheco. He was graduated from the University of California and is currently taking post-graduate work in zoology at the university's Davis campus.

Members of the wedding party joined the young couple following the wedding at a reception held in the Sherman Rose adobe, home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Guy Catlin. Among the guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Marion L. Cooper of Monterey, and her cousin, Benson Lake, who flew out from Philadelphia. Representing the groom's family, in addition to his parents and his brother and sister-in-law, were his uncles Lansing Tevis, William Tevis and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tevis.

The couple plan to spend the summer near Eureka, and will return in the fall to make their home in Davis.

Edwina Brown Engaged

Passing chocolates in the morning might not be orthodox, but when the candy signifies an engagement, sweetness is enlightenment.

The traditional five-pound-box was passed by Edwina Brown to her Alpha Chi Omega sisters Monday morning during the sorority's annual senior breakfast at San Jose State. The lucky man is James Sydney Pipe of Salinas.

Edwina is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown of Carmel, and a 1951 honor graduate of Carmel High. She took her AA degree from Stephens College, Missouri, and next week completes her junior year at San Jose State. She's majoring in journalism and public relations. She plans to spend the summer here at home preparing for a fall wedding: September 12 is the date she and Jim have selected, and they'll be married at St. John's Chapel, Del Monte. Afterwards they plan to make their home in San Jose, where Edwina will finish out her last year and Jim will enroll in the engineering school at State.

The future benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Pipe of Salinas and has one brother, Jack Pipe of San Francisco. A graduate of Salinas Union High School, he joined the Marine Corps in 1950; his three-year enlistment ran out in February, and Jim was discharged with the rank of staff sergeant. Since then, he's been employed at the Salinas Post Office.

Rod Dewar Gets Law Degree

Sunday's commencement exercises at Stanford University will find the L. L. Dewars and Mrs. Mildred Riker on hand to give off a proud partisan cheer for Rod Dewar, who'll receive the crowning tribute to a long, hard academic grind: his degree in law. Sharing in his achievement will be his wife, Peggy, who's got something to celebrate on her own account: a fine new job on the editorial staff of Sunset Magazine.

The kids may allow themselves a short vacation before Rod gets back to the books—getting primed for the really big test, the bar exams, which he plans to take in October. In the meantime, they plan to remain in their home in Atherton, but hope to be able to visit their families here from time to time during the summer months.

Vacation Reunion

For lo, these many years Mrs. Elizabeth Harrington and her three sisters have been trying to gather at the same place at the same time, but have managed only partial reunions. But last month, they synchronized plans and watches and enjoyed a whole month's vacation together.

The chosen meeting place was Denver. Mrs. Harrington drove out with her two California sisters, Mrs. Ida Carlsen of Mill Valley and Mrs. Bertha Hogen of Long Beach; the fourth sister, Mrs. Ann Hammond of Milwaukee, flew from the east for the rendezvous. They fortunately left Denver before the big storm, but not before they had seen the sights—including several concerts and opera at the Red Rock natural amphitheatre.

First stops on their extensive itinerary were Estes Park and Rocky Mountain National Park. After experiencing a fierce but short-lived storm in Colorado Springs they went on to explore the Manitou Springs area and view the snow-mantled beauty of Pikes Peak. The return trip carried them through New Mexico and Arizona, where recent rains had brought the desert wild flowers to their full glory. Says Mrs. Harrington, "It's always a thrill to see the Colorado River after crossing so much desert; the mountains of Colorado were wonderful, but California's 'mountains of light', as John Muir called them, were to us much more beautiful."

Town House Films

A film entitled California Centennial will be shown by Charles Dawson of the Carmel Adult School for the program Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at Town House. Tea and a social hour will follow at 4:00 o'clock.

Dee Sharpe Gets Sheepskin

A strong family claque will be on hand at Occidental College's Hillside Theatre tomorrow night to lead a round of applause for Dee Sharpe when she receives her bachelor's degree in the college's 72nd annual commencement ceremonies.

Dee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacKenzie Sharpe, left yesterday for the south, and they will be joined by the girl grad's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sharpe of Los Angeles, at tomorrow's commencement.

Dee has attended Occidental since her graduation from Carmel High, and in her four years at the college has garnered numerous honors for her work in speech and drama. She's been active in all phases of campus theatrical work, not only acting but producing, directing and technical supervision. Latest feather in her cap was her direction of the recent campus production of Gian-Carlo Menotti's drama-with-music, The Medium. She has also served as president of the Occidental Players.

Following graduation and a short vacation at home in Carmel, Dee plans to join several of her fellow grads in a trip to New York—not her first trip to the east, as she worked with a stock company on the east coast during the summer of '52. Plans are indefinite, but they'll undoubtedly include scouting the New York theatrical scene and possibly some post-graduate work at Columbia University.

Mary Susan Arrives

Last Monday's holiday, which found most folks in a veritable fury of attempted relaxation, was no picnic for Phillip Gunn — he sweated out most of the day in the traditional tizzy of most new fathers, padding around the waiting room at Peninsula Hospital. But with the ultimate arrival of the Gunns' firstborn, the occasion became a holiday indeed.

It's a girl, and she's been named Mary Susan—Susie to friends and family. Her homecoming was a major event with new grandmother, Mrs. M. C. Gunn, and the two family cats in respectful if apprehensive awe of Susie's every chirp. Mrs. Gunn, Sr., came out from Helena, Montana, to help organize things for the new arrival, and plans to stay until Susie has her parents thoroughly trained. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James McConnell of Rochester, Minnesota.

Judy Campbell to New Job

Judy Campbell leaves Monday for the Northern California town of Williams, where she has a job for the summer and a commitment for the fall, when she will join the faculty at the Williams high school. The drama department will be her particular baby, but she'll also teach classes in English and one in art.

Judy will be chauffeured to her new environs by her parents, Colonel and Mrs. Jeff C. Campbell. On the return trip, the Campbells will stop off at Berkeley to see their younger daughter, Margaret, receive her sheepskin from the University of California, then will bring her home with them to spend the summer here. Both girls are graduates of Carmel High.

Students Honor Mrs. Lockwood

Sunset School's student body turned out en masse to honor retiring second-grade teacher Mrs. Edna Lockwood at a reception held after classes Friday in the school cafeteria.

The party, which was arranged entirely by sixth and seventh grade former students of Mrs. Lockwood's, was enlivened by special decorations, consisting of blackboard doodles by various students illustrating remembered activities in the second grade. A huge sheet cake, inscribed "Thank you and Best Wishes", was cut by the honor guest and served to the accompaniment of punch and cookies.

Students in charge of planning the big party were Wendy Burnham, Don Smith, Moni Gatewood, Katy Fry, Susan Midloch, Irene Fernandez, and Judy Sargent.

COMITY GRANTS CHURCH PERMIT

The Comity Commission of the Northern California-Nevada Council of Churches, meeting last Friday in San Francisco, approved the application of the Presbyterian Church for a new church site at Junipero and Mountain View avenues.

The decision represents a departure from the general Comity ruling that a new church may not be built within a quarter-mile of a previously established comity church. However, the resolution issued by the commission stated that approval was granted "since the Presbyterian Church has been unable to obtain a use permit for a satisfactory location in the community other than within one quarter mile of the Methodist Church of the Wayfarer."

ORGAN SOCIETY ELECTS

The Hammond Organ Society of Monterey County met Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Graham, with some 50 members and guests in attendance.

First order of business was the election and installation of officers for the coming year. They are Dr. B. J. Balcar, president; Dr. Howard Zellhoefer, vice-president; Mrs. William Shaw, recording secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Searing, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Skowran, treasurer; Edward Graham, program chairman; and Dr. W. E. Stephens, membership chairman.

The afternoon program was provided by Ervin Bird, Jr., of Fort Ord, who gave a descriptive history of the great organ in the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City and performed several works on the organ. The meeting closed with the usual "jam session" by various organist members of the group.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

That spiritual understanding of God protects man from disease and danger, and is not subject to material laws of chance and change, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynote of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from Deuteronomy: "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms" (33:27).

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following:

"God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love" (106:7).

From the King James Version of the Bible the following verses will be among those read: "Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation; There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling" (Psalms 91:9, 10).

The Needler

by Beth

Understand that there were two waiting lines on Ocean Avenue at 7:00 o'clock Tuesday evening. One was in front of the Carmel Theater to catch the first show, and the other (a thirsty-looking crew, we're told) was in front of Whitney's.

On a serious note to those of you who are able to donate blood—don't forget the Blood Bank on June 18, a week from today, at the Carmel Legion Hall on Dolores and Eighth. The Carmel Red Cross tells us that the regional program which is operated jointly by the Red Cross and medical societies of Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito and Monterey counties is now going into its seventh year. It differs from the program of many other counties in that there is not one cent of charge for the blood itself and there is only persuasion (not coercion) in obtaining replacements by relatives or friends of the donee. Strong and healthy persons donate to help those less fortunate. War wounded also benefit as well as national defense in the stockpiling of blood plasma. So, show up if you possibly can.

Stood on Scenic Drive the other evening and watched the forming of a vicious-looking riptide in the waters at the south end of the beach. It stood out clearly and spectacularly, a foaming arc spreading out against the gray surf. Could only wish that some of those foolhardy ones who don't believe the signs that the beach is unsafe for swimming could have seen it. It was also evident that a swimmer who didn't become panic-stricken could float outside the dangerous current and make his way safely to shore.

Letter from a reader says—"Dear Needler: Am I needling someone when I ask if the lady and scholar mentioned in your last week's column is the one who has the misspelled beware of the dog sign at her house?" Dear reader: The answer is no, but definitely no. We said she was a scholar, didn't we? The one we had in mind means, in translation, Big Enough For Me. Incidentally, that Cave Canum sign has bothered us for years.

Liked the writing-in of Clyde Klaumann's name for the office of sheriff on numerous ballots last Tuesday. It was done as a vote of confidence for his excellent work here and particularly in regard to his excellent handling of juvenile problems in this area.

Bill Brown did a double take when he received his new business cards this week. They were printed "Willliam B. Brown." Sort of a switch on that old song—"If you knock the L out of Kelley."

An erudite friend (how come we know so many smart people?) was halfway in a temper and half hysterical over Hollywood's twisting of factual history in order to achieve an effect. She had gone to see Quo Vadis, and reports that Robert Taylor was driving a chariot madly along the Appian Way in clouds of dust. She points out that the Appian Way was a paved job. Another blooper was a remark made by Nero (in the movie) to the effect that he wished the Roman mob had a single throat so he could cut it. That remark, she says, was made by Caligula. Another time and another occasion.

"Sweet are the uses of adversity" is what Shakespeare said and this is certainly true in the case of Betsy Lowe, long-time Carmel resident. Some months ago her doctor told her to slow down and cut out some of her activities. So now she reads some Latin and Greek each day, a German novel and a French novel each month and is on her third reading of the Iliad. We'll let you in on a little secret. She is the one who has the correctly spelled Latin motto on her door.

Lillias McDougall

Mrs. Lillias J. MacDougall, a Peninsula resident for over three decades, was found dead Tuesday in her home at Carmelo and Santa Lucia.

A native of Scotland, Mrs. MacDougall was born about 1873. She and her husband, the late August M. MacDougall, first came to the Peninsula in 1917, making their home in Pebble Beach; several years later, they moved permanently to Carmel. Mr. MacDougall died in 1950.

Sole survivor of Mrs. MacDougall is a sister, Mrs. John L. Stanley of Oakland.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, with the Rev. Charles Dowdell officiating.

shore in the hope they will get a slice of the revenue.

The Mayor of Santa Barbara is working on the legislature to pass an enabling act so that cities may petition individually the legislature to declare their coastal waters a refuge or reserve. A separate act would have to be passed by the legislature for each city petitioning. It sounds cumbersome, but would be better than nothing.

Ever since the state managed to snatch its oil bone out of the jaws of the federal government, the Carmel City Council has had intermittent nightmares peopled with oil pumpers on the underwater shelf that rims our bay before it falls off into the oceanic grand canyon which lies just beyond our doorstep.

HAAS INJURED

Ed Haas of Carmel is reported in good condition at Peninsula Community Hospital following injuries received Wednesday night, when his MG roadster ran off the Carmel Valley Road approximately a mile east of Highway 1. There was no other vehicle involved, and the accident is under investigation by the Highway Patrol. Haas, 38, works as bartender at Whitney's.

Zenas Potter To Speak Before Commonwealth Club

Zenas L. Potter, of Carmel, will be the guest speaker of the Commonwealth Club of California on July 16. The meeting will be held in the Gold Ballroom of the Palace Hotel. His subject will be "Atomic Maginot Lines".

It is Zenas Potter's conviction that Radioactive Barriers, laid by the United Nations ahead of armed aggression, whenever and wherever it beings to march in the world, can make a very vital contribution to preventing World War III. Unlike other atomic weapons, he says, Radioactive Barriers have no aggressive uses. They threaten no nation's security. For this reason, their use, particularly if it is an act of the United Nations, will be very unlikely to start a war. On the contrary, by foredooming wars of aggression to failure, they will be prevented, and they are our great danger.

Leaders of no nation ever again can coldly calcuate that they have anything to win by starting a World War. Modern weapons are too annihilating. Our danger is that some so-called small war will generate such heat as to spread into a big war. Prevent small wars and big ones are unlikely, Potter states. Radioactive Barriers can help prevent them and so make a vital contribution to world peace.

This is the second time Zenas Potter has addressed the Commonwealth Club. The first time was in 1940, before we entered World War II. He at that time advocated that we stop making so many cars, and use the automobile plants to produce planes and tanks, getting ready for the war.

The Commonwealth Club speech will be broadcast by transcription over Radio Stations KLX and KLX-FM. The time of broadcasting will be announced later.
